MEDIA RELEASE - May 2008

Over the last 9 months, Zamro has had a transitional management team to generate operational efficiencies and to validate the company strategic direction.

The vast majority of this work is now complete and Carmelo Zampaglione is returning to an operational role as Managing Director and implementing a flatter management structure. This new structure will see Zamro transition to a Professional Services firm that will primarily focus on the delivery of client solutions via consulting & advisory services, search and recruitment services and contracting resources to the carrier, equipment vendor, corporate and government ICT market segments.

Combined with the internal improvements made over the last 9 months and the new company direction will ensure that Zamro remains focused on creating value for our clients through quality, professional services solutions that are competitive and aligned with our clients goals.
